Become a Partner or Affiliate

Last updated: October 2026

You recommend aurumbeam to others and receive remuneration for doing so. This page explains how the programme is structured, what you may do and what you may not.

Who this is intended for

MODEL	SUITS
Affiliate	individuals, creators, operators of websites, newsletters and channels who want to introduce aurumbeam to their audience
Partner	companies, intermediaries and multipliers with their own customer relationships and higher volume, with individual conditions and personal support

Both forms require that you are of full age and act in the exercise of an independent commercial or professional activity, i.e. not as a consumer. Further requirements are completed identification, a negative screening against the sanctions lists and a bank account in your own name. The full list is set out in the Affiliate Terms.

How it works

1. Apply. You submit an application via the app or via partner@aurumbeam.com and briefly describe the channels through which you intend to reach people.
2. Review. We review the application. This includes the identity check, a review of the channels stated and a check for obstacles under sanctions and anti-money laundering law.
3. Activation. Once accepted, you receive a personal referral link and access to the partner area.
4. Recommend. You use the link in your own channels.
5. Remuneration. For transactions by referred customers that have been concluded, paid and not reversed, a claim to remuneration arises in accordance with the Affiliate Terms.

What you see in the partner area

- Your referral link and your referral code
- Visits, registrations and concluded transactions in aggregated form
- Your outstanding and your settled remuneration

- Your statements for download
- Approved advertising material

For data protection reasons, you do not see any personal data of referred customers. You do not learn who bought how much.

Remuneration

The remuneration is agreed in text form upon activation and can be viewed in the partner area. The Affiliate Terms are authoritative. They govern in particular:

- basis of assessment and amount
- attribution period of a referred customer
- accrual, due date and payout
- cancellation in the event of reversal, abuse or breaches
- minimum payout amount and settlement cycle

Remuneration arises only for transactions that have actually been concluded and paid in full. The basis of assessment is exclusively the mark-up that Aurumbeam collects on the transaction, excluding the processing fee; the metal value is not included. No remuneration arises on processing fees and transfer fees, for buy-backs by Aurumbeam, for the purchase of precious metals sent in or for transfers of gold holdings between users.

Rules for your advertising

These rules are not a formality. Breaches lead to suspension and to the loss of outstanding remuneration.

Permitted

- the factual description of what Aurumbeam actually offers
- the use of the advertising material approved by us
- your own texts and videos, provided their content is accurate

Not permitted

- any statement about future performance, return, profit or interest
- the presentation of gold as a safe, loss-free, value-stable, inflation-proof or crisis-proof investment, as well as the terms capital protection, capital-guaranteed, risk-free and safe haven
- individual investment advice, tax advice or legal advice to prospective customers

- the description of Aurumbeam as a bank, bank account, current account, deposit, savings book, savings account, fixed-term deposit, overnight deposit, securities account in the banking law sense, means of payment, payment service, electronic money, wallet for payments, cryptocurrency, token, security, investment fund or insurance
- the terms credit balance, account balance, balance, gold account, pay in, top up, pay out, repayment and redemption; correct terms are custody holding, purchase of fine gold and sale back to Aurumbeam at the buying price applicable at the time
- the presentation of the transfer function as sending, dispatching, wiring or paying with gold; in the product presentation it is called beaming (beam gold, beam order, beamed) and legally transfer of gold holdings, and it is a transfer of ownership by re-registration in the custody register
- the description of customers as investors or savers, as well as the status labels allocated, unallocated and pending; correct terms are allocated, not allocated and under review
- statements on the tax treatment of an acquisition, in particular on holding periods and on the tax exemption of a gain
- the presentation of historical price trends without the notice that no statement about future performance follows from them
- your own statements about custodians, storage locations, vault facilities, insured sums and audit procedures; for these, refer to the document Custody Services at aurumbeam.com/verwahrdienste
- statements about certifications, memberships, awards, seals of approval or regulatory authorisations that Aurumbeam does not hold
- unsolicited advertising by email, telephone call, messenger or fax without the recipient’s valid prior consent
- advertising that gives the impression that it originates from Aurumbeam itself
- the registration of domains, profiles, channels or applications that contain the name aurumbeam or confusingly similar variations
- paid search engine advertising on the aurumbeam brand and confusingly similar spellings
- presentations of vouchers, cashback and discounts that do not exist
- advertising directed at minors
- automated registrations, incentive systems without disclosure and any form of manipulation of attribution

Your own purchases. You may buy gold from aurumbeam yourself, including via your own referral link. However, own purchases are not remunerated: no remuneration arises for purchases via your own aurumbeam access, via the access of your legal representatives or beneficial owners, or via access that you control. If such a purchase is nevertheless recorded as a referred transaction, the remuneration for it is cancelled.

Labelling obligation. You must identify advertising as such. This applies to posts on social networks, to videos, to newsletters and to websites. Use a clear label such as Advertisement or Ad, clearly visible and not hidden in hashtags at the end.

No distribution or multi-level model. There is no remuneration for recruiting further partners. There are no levels, no ranks and no participation in the remuneration of other partners.

Brand and material

The name, logo and design elements of aurumbeam are protected. You receive a simple, non-transferable right of use, revocable at any time, limited to advertising within the framework of the programme and limited to the duration of your participation.

Do not alter the logo, do not combine it with other brands to form a new sign and do not use it in a way that suggests a business connection that does not exist. After your participation ends, remove the brand and material from your channels.

Your role

You act as an independent advertising partner in your own name and for your own account. No employment relationship, no commercial agency agreement, no partnership and no authority to make declarations or conclude contracts on behalf of Aurumbeam is created.

You are yourself responsible for registering your activity, for taxes and levies, for the legal notice obligation of your own channels and for the lawfulness under data protection law of your own data processing.

Taxes

The remuneration is taxable consideration. Whether and in what amount VAT must be shown depends on your status and your country of establishment. You are obliged to inform us of your tax classification and to notify us of any changes. We do not provide tax advice.

Termination

You can terminate at any time without notice. We can also terminate, ordinarily with a notice period of 30 calendar days to the end of a month, and extraordinarily in the event of breaches of the advertising rules, deception, manipulation of attribution or legal obstacles. The details are set out in the Affiliate Terms.

Claims to remuneration that have already arisen and have not been disputed remain in place.
